THE BERLITZ METHOD differs from all other so-called conversational methods in that it follows a logical development. It proceeds from the beginning by object lessons, questions and answers, by the direct connection of perception with the foreign tongue, and by the association of ideas, so that the pupil playing an active part, as well as the teacher, proceeds by degrees from the known to the unknown and from the croncrete to the abstract.

THE BERLITZ METHOD does not neglect grammar; but instead of discouraging the beginner with dry and obscure rules and exceptions, renders the study of grammar interesting and practical by making the laws of the language clear and comprehensive through striking examples and comparisons.

Mystery of Soldier's Suicide. BALTIMORE, September 18 .- A dispatch from Hartford, Conn., says: Corp. Robert Brewer, formerly of the 19th Infantry, who is found to have been a cadet at West Point at one time, killed himself yesterday at the Hartford recruiting office, where he was on duty, by illuminating gas. He had been here a month and little was known of him by associates, though it was apparent that he was a man of education. He was twenty-seven years old and gave Baltimore as his birth-place. When Lieut. H. L. Evans, 9th Infantry, in charge of the office, arrived this afternoon it was revealed from the man's effects that Brewer had been expelled from West Point and had enlisted under an assumed name. His real name has
